Tasmanian dairy conference and awards dinner

14–15 March 2018
Launceston Country Club

Tasmanian dairy conference

'Doing more with less'

Thursday, 15 March 2018 Launceston Country Club, 8.30am–5pm

The 11th annual Tasmanian dairy conference is once again being held at the centrally located Country Club Tasmania in Launceston. Now a prestigious event on the dairy calendar for Tasmania, this conference is not to be missed.

- › There is something for everyone in what is shaping up to be an information packed conference, making it a must attend event for farmers, service providers, government and advisors.
- › The focus this year is Doing More With Less.
- › Conference registration is free for dairy farmers.
- › The conference and dinner offers a great chance for networking with other farmers, service providers and speakers so come along and make this a tax deductible mini break off farm – limited accommodation is on hold and available by contacting the Country Club on 1800 030 211 and quoting BB961282.
- › Register now for the conference and take advantage of our 20% early bird discount available up until the 15th of February! This is on offer for all events and package deals!

Conference speakers and topics

- › The future of our industry with Adam Jenkins.
- › Consumer trends and how this will affect us going forward with DA rep.
- › Smart use of social media with DA rep.
- › No Time? Wondering where your time goes? These are questions we are always asking ourselves. Sarah Watson from peopleMAD in New Zealand will offer plenty of practical information, ideas and solutions to help solve those burning questions and keep us on track.
- › Getting Management Timing Right A panel of farmers who are great at getting the timing right will talk about their real life experiences and the triggers they have in place to make things happen on time.
- › Reproduction Management This will be a panel discussion with industry experts on what's in the market now for improving reproductive performance in dairy herds. Covering topics such as DataGene, sexed semen options, and alternative ideas for bobby calves.
- › Our Innovation sessions are always popular with conference goers. This year we will be including a human health session with the Pit Stop Crew, along with Dairy Bio talking on pasture, TIA's latest projects and Sarah Watson with Lean Management providing information to take home and put into practice.

Tasmanian dairy awards dinner

Thursday, 15 March 2018
 Launceston Country Club,
 6.30–10.30pm

- › Our guest speakers will be:
 Adam Jenkins—President of the UDV, 2011 Nuffield Scholar. Adam will share with us his background to entering the dairy industry in 2004 and his journey since which has been driven by the philosophy 'we can't complain if we don't turn up and have a seat at the table'.
- › Jeff Odgers—Newly elected Chairman of Dairy Australia.
- › Awards for Business Management, Safety, Environment, Sharefarmer and Young Farmer in 2017 will be presented along with a new award Employer of Choice.

Pre-conference tour

Wednesday, 14 March 2018
 Launceston Country Club
 8.00am–5.45pm

- › 'What can I learn?'. The tour this year will be visiting Clovelly Farms and Agrilac Dairies in the North East with a stop off for lunch at Barnbogle's Lost Farm restaurant (Bridport). Come along and find out what you can learn from these different businesses that you could implement on your farm.
- › There are limited seats available for this tour – please book early to guarantee your seat!
